

Analytical Division Distinguished Service Award

Nominations are invited for the Division's Distinguished Service Award, the Rules for which are as follows:

1. The aim of the Award is to recognise exceptional service over a period of years to the Analytical Division of The Royal Society of Chemistry (including that to the Society for Analytical Chemistry).
2. The Award shall normally be in the form of an illuminated address which may be accompanied by such additional recognition as Council of the Division shall agree.
3. Nominations for the Award will be invited annually from members of Council of the Division, and may be received from any member of the Division. They shall be made in writing, with supporting evidence, to the President of the Analytical Division, Royal Society of Chemistry, Burlington House, London, W1V 0BN.
4. Nominations shall be considered by the Honours Committee of the Analytical Division, which shall recommend to Council of the Division (a) to whom an award should be made, (b) the nature of the award or (c) that no award should be made.
5. The Award shall be made by the Council of the Analytical Division, which must approve any alterations of these Rules.

Nominations for the Award should be sent to the President of the Analytical Division before August 28th, 1981.

New Appointments at Loughborough

Dr. J. N. Miller, formerly Reader in analytical chemistry at Loughborough University of Technology, has been appointed to the Chair in analytical chemistry. Dr. A. Fogg is now the Reader in analytical chemistry.